INTERCULTURAL CALL FOR ARTISTS

Astragali Teatro - Eufonia Società Cooperativa (Italy), in collaboration with Fundación de la Danza "Alicia Alonso" of the University of Madrid "Rey Juan Carlos" (Spain), Institut im. Jerzego Grotowskiego (Poland), Teatro Tsi Zakynthos (Greece), University of Salento - Department of Engineering for Innovation - Augmented and Virtual Reality Lab (Italy), are pleased to announce an Intercultural Call for Artists for the participation in artistic activities in Spain, Poland, Italy within the project A.P.P.S. - Antigone's Pride - Performing Society, supported by the European Union "Creative Europe Program – Cultural Cooperation projects".

The Call is addressed to emerging and professional actresses and actors, especially with migrant background, living in Italy, Poland, Spain and other European countries, for the participation in the project international performance, entitled Antigone's Cantica, that will be produced during the project.

The project envisages the implementation of three Eco-Arts Residences in three natural parks in Spain, in Poland and in Italy. The theatrical ecology activity in the parks will be connected with the research and experimentation of new forms of site-specific performances in the nature and the realization of the international multilingual performance Antigone's Cantica.

The selected artists will participate in the performance preparation and presentation that will be made during the three International Artistic Residences held in 2023 in Spain (second half of April), Poland (first half of June) and Italy (first half of July). They will participate in the full immersion rehearsals of about two weeks in each Artistic Residence that will bring to the realization of the multi- language, site-specific performance Antigone's Cantica which will be presented in the natural environment in the three countries. The participants will also participate in the preparatory activities that will take place online before each Residence in presence.

The project can cover the travels and the accommodation costs for the selected participants.
